

(From the Daily, July 18.)

It is reported that many of the local magistrates are leaving Gallup.

Chas. F. Hunt is again in Santa Fe. He is looking at the territorial auditor. A. W. Cheland, the popular Railroad avenue grocer, has returned from an eastern trip.

Harry Newland, formerly of this city, is at the Soldiers' Home at Seattle, a complete physical wreck.

Calvin Scott fell through the joints of the Commercial club building tower, to the floor below, a distance of twelve feet and bruised his left sole severely.

An investigation of the accounts of W. L. Trimble & Co., was run over on Copper avenue this afternoon. His ankle was badly mashed. The wagon was loaded with gravel. He was taken to his room and a surgeon called.

Billy Burton, formerly of Santa Fe, is at Oakland, California, and writes to this paper that he wishes to return to New Mexico and engage in business. He frankly admits that he acted the fool when he left Santa Fe.

Mr. C. H. Shupe and wife will go east to Pennsylvania with the remains of little Walter to-night. The sympathies of the whole community go with them on their sad journey.

The sunbeams people who exhibited in this territory yesterday and the day before had the audience last evening to try to persuade three young girls of respectable families to join their troupe, offering to start them at $10 a week and advance their wages as they progressed in proficiency. The whole outfit is disreputable, and they should be given a wide berth by the people of this territory.

Where is the boy?

Nearly three weeks ago, the eldest son of Richard Page disappeared and has not been heard from since. Mr. Page was in town the next day, and said his boy had run away. He told a gentleman here he had whopped the boy, and that he had left him. The boy is 10 years old. There are rumors in circulation regarding the disappearance of the boy, and they should be investigated by the authorities.

Another Section Exploded.

A few days ago, the Denver News published a sensational spear, depicting from Flagstaff, Arizona, giving the purported details of the arrest of a Navajo chief and that a sheriff's posse was surrounded by hostiles and war imminent. The despatch was sent in a bold headed letter that it was supposed every one would consider it such. However, many people believe the false, never examining a map, which would show the Navajo reservation to be several hundred miles from Flagstaff.

Mr. T. P. Gable received the following despatch from D. M. Rorland, of Flagstaff, thoroughly exploding the sensation. Mr. Rorland was formerly agent of the Navajos and knows what he is talking about. He says:

"Exaggerated reports of threatened Navajo outrages are doing grievous injury to our territory. The Indian arrears kept in my house last night, after seeing two days here in custody under supervision charge." Since this dispute began, I have repeatedly offered to bring in any Indian required from the reservation, with the aid of a single armed man. You know me, and what I say is true. There is absolutely no danger of my conduct, unless precipitated by the folly of some irresponsible person."

(From the Daily, July 20.)

Thus A. Gurule started a back line to the Jones this morning.

A. D. Rawlings and wife, from Lamar, Colorado, will make their future home in this city.

Tearing down the dilapidated awnings is greatly improving the appearance of the streets.

A. V. Grant, the capitalist and railroad builder, came in from the east last night, and will remain for several days.

The Socorro Advertiser says: Miss May Jennings, of Albuquerque, who has many friends in this city, is here visiting.

S. M. Howe, the engineer, is in the city. He has been engaged in surveying for the Mitchell Bros., in western Valencia county.

The shade trees on South Edith street have not been watered but once this summer, and the residents complain of the neglect.

W. T. Cheland's delivery team created a sensation this morning by running away on First street. No serious damage was done.

Paul C. De Bazzell, a professor of gymnastics, athletics and fencing, at Pueblo, Colorado, is thinking of establishing a school in this city.

E. H. Greenleaf is getting ready to erect the handsomest business block on Railroad avenue. It will be of brick, three stories in height, and will be elegantly finished.

Mario Arrijo, who has been absent from the city for several years, has returned and intends residing here in the future. His many old friends are giving him a cordial greeting.

Adrian L. Dibulus, a consummate violinist on the mesa, near this city, on Saturday afternoon. He was born at Chillicothe, Ohio, and was in his thirty third year. The remains will be shipped to Chillicothe for burial.

On Tuesday, July 28, the New Mexico Bar association meets at Santa Fe. The annual meeting was changed from the winter session to midsummer, on account of the change of the terms of the supreme court from January to August.

Pedro J. Arrijo came in yesterday morning from San Lorenzo springs and went out this morning. He reports that A. W. Kimball, himself and David L. Armijo are busy at work completing the assessment rolls and doing a good job of clerical work.

The friends of Hon. Frank A. Hubbell will be glad to learn that his wounds, received from the crazy ranchman, S. M. Carter, last Saturday, are not serious. He will soon recover. Carter is in the county jail. It is the general opinion that he is crazy.

It is reported by Santa Fe railroad men that a large number of cattle have been drowned in the Rio Grande during the late floods, between El Paso and Rincon, and their putrid carcasses are now polluting the waters from which El Paso derives its supply.

An investigation of the accounts of Cashier Lutz, at the Santa Fe freight depot, shows everything to be all right, and that the rumor in regard to the alleged shortage is without any foundation, arising from a clerical error. Lutz has an honest face and he is all right.

Father Peyron comes to the front with the best snake story yet reported in this vicinity. He says that a Frenchman was engaged in quarrying stone in one of the canons of the Sandia mountains one day last week, when the workman's dog ran up to him whining and fell dead at his feet. In a moment a monstrous snake appeared, and attacked the man, who defended himself with his shovel. After a fierce combat the snake was inured and crawled into a crevice in the rock, where it could not be reached. The workman says the snake was very large, and rose up and hissed at him. Peary parties in the Sandia mountains should beware of this snake.

A Bereaved Family.

Foster Calson, infant son of S. M. Folsom, died at Santa Fe yesterday morning. This leaves the couple childless and bereaved. The little suffered was taken to Santa Fe last Friday night, with the hope that the change of air and altitude would be beneficial, but no relief was possible, and the little one closed his eyes in death yesterday morning. The body was brought to this city last night, and the funeral took place at the family residence, on West Railroad avenue, this morning.

Temperance Lectures.

An immense audience greeted Miss De Velling at the Congregational church Sunday night. Her address was listened to with profound attention, while she proved beyond all question that this country could not afford the liquor traffic, either for health, social or moral considerations, and finally it was a great loss financially, the income in the ratio of one dollar to the expense of seven dollars, making a balance on the wrong side of the sum of six dollars.

Miss De Velling will speak again to-night at the Lead avenue M. E. church, and a general invitation is extended to all.

A GOOD GAME.

The Maroons of this City Defeat the Santa Fe Team.

It was a neat game yesterday. The Maroons of the city won by a score of 14 to 3. The Santa Fe Black Stockings did not make but one base hit, and did not earn a single run. The out fielding of both clubs was good, not a single fly ball reaching the ground. Knight, Rudolph and Murray took in several difficult flies. The whole game, on the part of the Maroons, with the exception of three or four costly errors, was perfect. Manfie put out several runners at second base, Sears, the baseman, taking his swift throws with ease. The Santa Fe nine was weak at the bat. They could not set up Mandell's curves. On the part of the Maroons several heavy hits were made. McCann and Sears made a good record in base hits, and Hegel drove out a home run. There was very little wrangling over the game, the Santa Fe young men proving themselves perfect gentlemen. James Lockhart umpired the game in a faultless manner, and close decisions were impartially given. The crowd appreciated the excellent conduct of the visitors and cheered every good play they made. The following is the score by innings:

Score by Innings.

Albuquerque..... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Santa Fe..... 0 0 1 1 0 0 1 0 0 2

McCreight Head From.

W. T. McCreight, the city editor of the DAILY CITIZEN, Albuquerque, N. M., represents that territory in the convention, and is the first delegate to represent that territory in any national editorial convention. Mr. McCreight says he left his gun at home, but he has a bowie knife for emergencies, and swears that he comes from the best country the sun shines upon. At present Mr. McCreight is much annoyed by the reports that the New Mexico Indians are on the war path. "The Navajos could not be dragged on the war path, and by the way, they have just finished marketing two million pounds of wool in Albuquerque, and the Moquis, who belong to the Pueblos, are house Indians, and while they are irritated by the agent, who sent some of their children off to school, they are not at a fighting point, or anywhere near it." Mr. McCreight's secretary and treasurer of the New Mexico Editorial association, called at this office yesterday morning. Mr. Hall is a rustler and will make the coming fair the greatest one of them all, it push and energy counts for anything. He went out to Magdalena in the afternoon.

E. H. Greenleaf is getting ready to erect the handsomest business block on Railroad avenue. It will be of brick, three stories in height, and will be elegantly finished.

Mario Arrijo, who has been absent from the city for several years, has returned and intends residing here in the future. His many old friends are giving him a cordial greeting.

Adrian L. Dibulus, a consummate violinist on the mesa, near this city, on Saturday afternoon. He was born at Chillicothe, Ohio, and was in his thirty third year. The remains will be shipped to Chillicothe for burial.

On Tuesday, July 28, the New Mexico Bar association meets at Santa Fe. The annual meeting was changed from the winter session to midsummer, on account of the change of the terms of the supreme court from January to August.

Pedro J. Arrijo came in yesterday morning from San Lorenzo springs and

TERRITORIAL EXPOSITION.

Grand Preparations in Progress for the Big Exhibition.

It Will Attract Thousands of Visitors From All Over the Country.

GET READY FOR THE EVENT

There will be a three days shooting tournament.

President Hall goes to northern Arizona to night to open the fair.

The Republican League clubs will hold their annual meeting during the fair.

All the attractions will draw several thousand people to the city during fair week.

Every county in the territory will have exhibits of agricultural and mineral products.

The best trotting and running horses in Colorado, Arizona, western Texas and this territory will be present.

The Flambeau club, firemen, military and a grand trades display will make a big parade one evening during the exposition.

The military encampment will include at least a dozen companies of New Mexico and Arizona militia and two or three companies of regulars.

Uncle John Asher, the supervisor of Grant county, is in the city. He says everybody in Grant who possibly can get away will be at the Territorial fair.

The Las Vegas Stock Grower says: "The energetic work of President Hall, of the Territorial Fair association, assures complete exhibits from every county in the territory and the best advertisement of the territory's resources ever made."

The Cerrillos Beacon says the miners of that prosperous camp should lay away some good specimens of ore for exhibition at the Territorial fair. A great many people interested in mining will visit the thriving city during fair time, and a good display from our mines will undoubtedly attract attention.

The New Mexican says: "The fruit growers of Santa Fe county should make an exhibit of their fine and rare collection of Indian curiosities at the fair."

President Hall has written a personal letter to every officer and director of the fair association, urging prompt work and sending any suggestion to still further improve the great exhibition.

The Santa Fe Star is a good friend of the territorial fair. It says: "The various agricultural, horticultural and mineral products of Santa Fe county should be well represented at the coming territorial fair at Albuquerque. Particular pains should be taken to make the fruit exhibit large and complete."

The Tolosa Metropole says: "The meeting of the republican league of New Mexico has been postponed to meet at Albuquerque September 17. This change will give more time for the organization of clubs throughout the territory, and at the same time the state fair at Alamogordo may be delayed."

Many attractions will be put on this year to the ladies, and it is hoped that the space devoted to fancy wares, novelties and such articles will be fully occupied.

These exhibits will be put on the front of the fair at Albuquerque.

These fairs, although more devoted to sports than agricultural exhibits, have done much to advertise New Mexico.

It is doubtful if a purely agricultural exhibit would attract the patronage of the fair.

And so it is to be hoped that the fair will have the proper amount of interest as they can and should make."

The New Mexico Territorial fair will be held at Albuquerque in September.

These fairs, although more devoted to sports than agricultural exhibits, have done much to advertise New Mexico.

It is doubtful if a purely agricultural exhibit would attract the patronage of the fair.

And so it is to be hoped that the fair

will have the proper amount of interest as they can and should make."

The New Mexican says: "The fruit

growers of Santa Fe county should

make an exhibit of their fine and rare

collection of Indian curiosities at the fair."

President Hall has written a personal letter to every officer and director of the fair association, urging prompt work

and sending any suggestion to still further improve the great exhibition.

And so it is to be hoped that the fair

will have the proper amount of interest as they can and should make."

The New Mexican says: "The fruit

growers of Santa Fe county should

make an exhibit of their fine and rare

collection of Indian curiosities at the

fair."

President Hall has written a personal letter to every officer and director of

the fair association, urging prompt work

and sending any suggestion to still

further improve the great exhibition.

And so it is to be hoped that the fair

will have the proper amount of interest as they can and should make."

The New Mexican says: "The fruit

growers of Santa Fe county should

make an exhibit of their fine and rare

collection of Indian curiosities at the

fair."

President Hall has written a personal letter to every officer and director of

the fair association, urging prompt work

and sending any suggestion to still

further improve the great exhibition.

And so it is to be hoped that the fair

will have the proper amount of interest as they can and should make."

The New Mexican says: "The fruit

growers of Santa Fe county should

make an exhibit of their fine and rare

collection of Indian curiosities at the

fair."

President Hall has written a personal